

Dual Career Services

VCU is committed to providing assistance to dual career couples so that both partners can make a successful transition.

Who is eligible for assistance?

- A spouse or partner of an employee who is being recruited or has been recently hired by VCU.

What services are offered?

- A general overview of employment at VCU and the surrounding region.
- Job search assistance.
- Support and encouragement during the job search.

How does the program work?

- The hiring department's Personnel Administrator, or other administrator, contacts VCU Human Resources to make the referral and provides basic information about the status of the search or appointment.
- An initial consultation with the spouse or partner provides background on employment interest and needs.
- A range of services is tailored to individual needs.
- The HR Program Coordinator assists in identifying local/regional employment opportunities and networking contacts. The individual's job search efforts form a crucial and essential component of the program's success.

For more information, please contact:

Debbie Fitzgerald, Dual Career Assistance Program Coordinator
VCU Human Resources – Work/Life Resources
Phone: (804) 828-1521; Fax: (804) 828-1434
Email: dmfitzge@vcu.edu

Please note that the dual career assistance program is provided as a resource. It does not create an entitlement to employment, nor does it guarantee job placement.